

Dulles Still Red Thorn

By JOSEPH MACSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Formosan crisis has once again spotlighted the peculiar talents of State Secretary John Foster Dulles. At 70 years of age, this forceful man tackles each new crisis with an air of indefatigable vigor.

Dulles has added a new dimension to the ancient game of bluff in which, it seems clear, is a technique being used on both sides in the verbal war between the United States and Red China over the Quemoy and Matsu islands.

In the hands of Dulles, bluff becomes more than the dictionary definition of "threat designed to operate without action." On Formosa, Dulles first issued a statement on behalf of President Eisenhower giving a stern warning to the Communist Chinese. A "high official" then made the warning considerably stronger.

A CERTAIN MANNER

Dulles subsequently admitted that he was that official, and outlined to reporters what he meant by U.S. support of Chiang Kai-shek. He seemed to be saying that if the Red Chinese acted in a certain manner, the U.S. would retaliate in a certain, undefined manner.

He also held out an invitation to negotiate which, however limited and vague, must be controversial. Many Canadians, for instance, would consider it merely common sense if the U.S. backed away from war over the Quemoy and Matsu. But in the ears of Chiang the Dulles statement may have sounded like betrayal.

An historic feature of the whole affair is that U.S. policy in the Far East seems to be left entirely to Eisenhower and Dulles with a minimum of criticism and comment at home.

PRIVATE DIPLOMACY

Ordinary Americans — traditionally merciless in criticism of their government in foreign affairs — seem to be almost aloof in this crisis. Congress is in recess and many newspapers have said they lack the full facts on the situation.

On this, Dulles said: "I, of course, recognize that a policy which involves taking grave decisions of this kind should, so far as practical, have the support of the American people. But also, I

Quemoy Convoy Reaches Taipei

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The first American-escorted supply convoy to Quemoy in three days reached the besieged Nationalist island today and, soon after, Communist shore guns started shelling.

An American command spokesman said the first half hour of the barrage inflicted no damage either on the Nationalist landing craft on the beach or on the U.S. 7th Fleet escorts three miles or more offshore.

A brief communique from the Nationalist defense ministry reported only that "our supply ships reached Quemoy and are unloading under the threat of enemy gunfire."

Ogopogo Sighted By Duet

Ogopogo still is basking in the blue waters of Okanagan Lake—and two well-known residents can verify his existence.

He was seen about 250 yards from shore in front of the residence of Mrs. W. D. Walker, Okanagan Mission.

Edward Coelen, 778 Sutherland Avenue, was visiting Mrs. Walker when the latter heard a splash. The couple were in the garden.

Looking up they distinctly saw Ogo. They described the lake monster as being 35 feet long, with two humps and a head like a reptile. Its tail was similar to that of a fish.

BELIEVES NOW

"I never believed Ogopogo existed," said Mr. Coelen, who has resided here 30 years. "Now I'm a firm believer."

Mrs. Walker, an old-time resident, also admitted she too now is an "Ogopogo believer."

Another near-by resident, Gerald Lemley, was working on his boat at the time. Suddenly waves started coming up on shore. He looked out, and thought it was the delayed action of a bomb, but there was no vessel in sight. It was not until he talked to Mrs. Walker and Mr. Coelen that he realized Ogopogo had been responsible for the disturbance of the water.

Little Rock Integration Awaits Court Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court tackles today the issue of how fast public school integration must move ahead.

The precise legal issue is the narrow one—whether a plan of integration, once in operation, may be suspended lawfully because of popular opposition to it. But the impact of the court's ruling is certain to be far-reaching.

Specifically, the court will determine whether Little Rock Central High School in Arkansas may be closed for two weeks to must readmit Negro students, whose attendance there last year

Second U.S. Marines Sail From Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A second battalion of U.S. Marines will sail home from Lebanon next week, but retiring President Camille Chamoun says the remaining 10,000 American troops may stay here until the end of October.

The 1,700-man battalion will begin boarding ship Monday. They will sail for the U.S. four days later, Sept. 19.

The battalion had been scheduled to go home from Mediterranean duty last May. The defense department in Washington said its place at sea with the 6th Fleet will be taken by about 1,900 men of the 6th Marine Regiment.

Admiral James L. Holloway, commander of U.S. forces in Lebanon, gave no indication that withdrawal of more American troops is imminent. Holloway has been in frequent conference lately with Chamoun and the man who will succeed him as president Sept. 24, Gen. Fuad Chehab.

Tom T. Tomiye, president of Kelowna Rotary Club, announced this morning that plans are complete for the Fall Fair and Home Show, opening tonight in the Kelowna and District Memorial Arena.

A native son of Kelowna, Mr. Tomiye took over the reins of the local Rotary club last July. He is an active golfer, and is vice-president of the Kelowna Golf and Country Club. Mr. Tomiye said proceeds from the three-day fair go toward the operation of Pleasantvale Homes for senior citizens, and other charities. Rotarians constructed 16 units for senior citizens and additional homes are planned as the need arises.

Nightly bingo games are an added feature of this year's fair.

Debbie And Eddie Separate — Liz Doesn't Even Feel Guilty

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher have separated although Debbie says, "I'm still in love with my husband."

They split up Wednesday amid rumors that Elizabeth Taylor was the cause of it all.

But Liz indicated there were some unhappy chapters in Hollywood's storybook marriage. "I don't feel that I've taken Eddie away from Debbie — because they weren't getting along anyway," said Miss Taylor.

She slipped into seclusion, Eddie moved in with a friend, comedian Joey Forman. Debbie, after hiding out Wednesday with friends, returned to the family home.

NUMBER ONE PROBLEM FOR WORLD

TORONTO (CP) — A plea for world peace through rule of law was made Wednesday night by Charles S. Rhyne of Washington, D.C., in a speech to the Canadian Bar Association.

Mr. Rhyne, past president of the American Bar Association, said: "Mutual distrust, with its propaganda barages and this situation of a world divided into two mighty armed camps, is the number one problem of our day."

"Against this almost terrifying picture of the world today, I suggest to you that law, which has brought order and peace within nations, can—if but given the opportunity—do the same between nations."

Mr. Rhyne called the International Court of Justice the most unknown court in the world and the most unused instrument for peace that mankind possesses.

"To enable law to contribute its potential service for the benefit of mankind, by achieving and maintaining world peace, this court must be expanded into many courts. We must have a world court system with a trial court branch in each nation."

"I sincerely believe that our task as lawyers is to see to it that the time of the idea of the rule of law as a decider of disputes between nations arrives before the holocaust of nuclear extinction overtakes mankind."

Earlier, appointment of judges and Queen's Counsel on the basis of political patronage was criticized by a panel of lawyers.

Chairman Gordon W. Ford of Toronto asked the five-man panel whether they approved cabinet appointment of judges.

Mac Sales To Prairie Hit 500,000

The Macs are doing their job again, as good little ambassadors, spreading the renown of the Okanagan Valley all across Western Canada.

As the harvest peak of the McIntosh apples—accepted trademark of the Okanagan—is reached, demand for the new crop, especially in the appealing handpicks (approximately 20-pound corrugated fibre boxes) remains good.

Into this steady market and against heavy competition from the United States, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. have shipped to date nearly 500,000 of the handpicks.

Coloring and quality of product at the consumer end has been reported to be tops, and BCTF has high hopes of shipping out as many handpicks as last year, though the season for them began about four days later this year.

Handpick shipments last year came to 1,200,000.

STIFF COMPETITION
United States' Macs, chiefly from Washington, Michigan and Wisconsin, were on the Western Canadian market several days before the Okanagan Mac harvest began, but in the case of B.C., at least, there have been no

Apple Pickers Said Adequate

There is no shortage of apple pickers this year.

Robert McKinstry, local farm labor officer, said there are enough transients and local people to harvest the crop.

School Principals report students are not being allowed to "skip" school to help with the harvest.

Previously, when an emergency existed, students over 15 years of age have been permitted to pick apples for the first few weeks of the fall semester. School officials, so far, have not been informed of any emergency.

There has not been an unusually large number of student absences from classes to date, principals said. Even growers' sons have returned to school.

Eight-Year-Old Slays Parents During Sleep

NEW YORK (AP) — Melvin Nimer, Jr., a blonde eight-year-old, slays his parents during the slumber of his parents — and carried it out with a kitchen knife while they slept.

His story fits the facts of the bloody Staten Island stabbing attributed originally to a white masked intruder.

But the district attorney emphasized that there is still much to be explained about the Sept. 2 slayings and that Melvin has not been arrested.

A psychiatric report on the child indicated he has a persecution complex and a personality compatible with the commission of violence.

The boy's uncle, Dr. Harold Nimer, said he does not believe the confession to the killing of Dr. Melvin Nimer and his pretty brunette wife, Lore Jean, both 31.

The boy's confession was obtained by District Attorney John M. Braisted last Saturday but was not disclosed until Wednesday night.

In the meantime, the calm, dry-eyed youngster flew to Utah and attended his parents' funeral — apparently never indicating that he had confessed.

Braisted said Melvin—taken to the family home Wednesday night—"indicated to us the manner in which his parents were murdered."

No matter what the final findings in the case may be, the boy cannot be charged with murder because of his age.

Melvin stands about 4½ feet and weighs 60 pounds.

CD Probe Scheduled For Valley

Civil defence in Canada is at the cross-roads.

What can be done to overcome public apathy and indifference of municipal councils to CD is of major concern to the department of national defence.

Lt. General H. D. Graham, CBE, DSO, DFC, CD, currently is touring B.C., to reassess Civil Defence in this province. Earlier in the week he visited Victoria, Vancouver and the Fraser Valley.

Tonight he will confer with Okanagan CD officials in Penticton.

HORN TO ATTEND
Col. J. H. Horn, Okanagan coordinator, along with municipal Civil Defence representatives, will attend the conference. Mayor R. F. Parkinson and aldermen Robert Knox, Jack Treadgold and Arthur Jackson also will be present at the meeting.

Several briefs will be submitted to General Graham.

In the event of an atomic attack on the west coast, the Okanagan would become a mobile support and reception area. Recent events in the Far East and the fact there have been many alerts at Canada's DEW line in the far north, make it imperative to take necessary steps to strengthen civil defence, a local spokesman declared.

Finlayson's Position Challenged By Kidd

VANCOUVER (CP)—The battle lines are drawn and the stage is set in the political tussle for the leadership of the British Columbia Progressive Conservative party.

The stage is the huge, three-day party convention which officially opens tonight with a keynote address by party veteran Howard Green, now federal works minister and a right-hand man of Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The battle will be waged among the more than 600 delegates from all parts of the province who began registering this morning for their most important—and enthusiastic—conference in years. The enthusiasm stems mainly from the party's federal sweep last March.

TWO GRADUATES

After two days of manoeuvring, delegates will be called on Saturday to vote either for the present leader, 39-year-old Deane Finlayson, or Dr. Desmond Fife Kidd, a 52-year-old geologist turned political strategist.

Nominations won't close until Friday evening but no other contestant is expected to enter the race. And no matter who wins, party followers say the supporters of both factions will be expected to join ranks to meet Premier Bennett's Social Credit forces head on at the next election.

Party prophets predict this may be a anytime. The party hasn't held power in B.C. since the Talmie regime of 1928-33 and no Conservative has sat in the provincial legislature for years.

Conservatives now hold 18 of B.C.'s 22 federal seats.

Today the resolutions committee went to work on hundreds of submissions for the party platform, including suggestions for action to get better conciliation machinery into provincial law and avoid the strikes which tied up many industries in B.C. this year.

QUESTION ELIGIBILITY
Even before the convention began there were reports that the eligibility of some delegations, notably from Saanich and Esquimal, would be questioned on technical grounds. Observers said that this actually boiled down to the battle between the Finlayson and Kidd factions.

The Esquimalt delegation is said to be primarily pro-Kidd.

Mr. Finlayson, who took over the party in the politically-dark days of 1953 and insisted on maintaining an organization, need not have called the leadership convention. But his supporters say that because of criticism he decided to demand a "clear mandate."

Dr. Kidd is leaving a lucrative practice as a consulting geologist to take up the fight, declaring the party must be put in shape for a provincial election he believes will come soon.

Resolutions will take up much of the convention's time. One break will be a Friday luncheon at which W. J. C. Kirby, Alberta party leader and MLA for Red Deer, will be guest speaker.

Dief Reported Backing Finlayson Leadership

VANCOUVER (CP) — A letter reported to have been written by Prime Minister Diefenbaker to one of the candidates for leadership of the B.C. Conservative party was a leading topic today in behind-the-scenes talks at the leadership convention.

Existence of the letter, implying support of present leader Deane Finlayson, was referred to in a column Tuesday by Stuart Keate, publisher of the Victoria Times.

He predicted Finlayson will win the leadership race and in calling the convention the present party chief was "merely taking a calculated risk."

"In fact, one of my better spies informs me that no less a personage than John Diefenbaker wrote Finlayson a letter, telling him he was solid, it was unnecessary, why did he do it, etc. etc."

Finlayson would neither confirm nor deny the existence of the letter. He said: "The prime minister is an old political campaigner. I have supported him for years in his leadership of the Conservative party because I believed he was the right man."

Bert Olmstead Case Decision Reserved By Appellate Judges

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Court of Appeal will wait Wednesday that a six-month jail sentence imposed on National Hockey League star Murray (Bert) Olmstead would mean "lifetime destruction as a professional hockey player."

The three appeal judges, Chief Justice A. C. Deschamps and Justices J. M. Coats and P. A. Sheppard, reserved their decision on Olmstead's appeal for quashing of the jail term.

Senator J. W. Farris, appearing for the hockey player, asked the judges to impose a moderate fine instead.

The 31-year-old forward, formerly with Montreal Canadiens but traded in the off-season to Toronto Maple Leafs, was convicted and sentenced by Magistrate N. J. Bartman for assaulting Ralph D. Rooney of West Vancouver at a Vancouver Trapshooting Association banquet this summer.

Notting Hill Race Riots More Emotional Than Economic

The race trouble in Britain must cause concern throughout the free world. It occurs in a country that has generally been a shining example of tolerance, of the ability of people to live and let live. It is far from faultless, but compared with most countries Britain is unusually free from anti-minority prejudices.

Predictions that this tolerance might break down are not new. Since the war, full employment and social security have attracted increasing numbers of West Indians to Britain; coming from the Commonwealth, their migration is not subject to any restrictions.

The basic reason for fearing that racial trouble would result was economic: the colored people would take jobs from Englishmen. In fact, however, there has been little feeling of that kind. The English have, after all, been accustomed for generations to the job-seeking invasion of the Scots, the Welsh and the Irish; and, while there have been occasional complaints and incidents, the direct criticism of the West Indians taking jobs has hitherto been slight.

The truth, as usual, is that people are more complicated than economics. If any Englishmen at all are at present being done out of jobs by West Indians, they are older men and women. But it is not adults who are responsible for the violence in London. The brawlers on the white side are gangs of youths.

There is not now, and there has not been any time since 1939, any lack of job opportunities for younger people in Britain. The frustrations reflected in the cry "Down with Niggers" are emotional not economic.

Notting Hill, where the disturbances are centred, is one of London's inner residential districts that have gone down in the world as people have moved to the suburbs. That is why immigrants have found accommodation there. Their presence is a symptom, not a cause, of the change. But it is having this change made apparent, rather than any deprivation of jobs, that provides the social basis for resentment among the remaining white residents.

The non-economic forces at work are further apparent in the fact that violence seems to be particularly directed against couples of mixed race.

The British Government is obviously aware of the first necessity in a situation such as has now developed: that law and order must be enforced with all possible rigor. Once violence of the kind represented by gangs of "teddy boys" gets out of hand, it feeds on itself.

It must greatly be hoped that the prevention of overt trouble will quieten feelings sufficiently. More drastic measures, such as newly imposed restrictions on the entry of West Indians to Britain, would certainly not do the cause of the free nations any good. But other countries, which have such restrictions anyway, are certainly in no position to lecture Britain over the little trouble in London now.

GET THEE BEHIND ME, SATAN

OTTAWA REPORT

Conservative Parley In B.C.

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
(Specially Written For The Daily Courier)

OTTAWA—The British Columbia provincial Conservatives open a three-day convention in Vancouver today.

Its purpose will be to consider matters of leadership, policy and organization, declared the president of the B.C. provincial Conservative Association, Gowan Guest, when announcing the convention three months ago.

The importance of this convention can be readily understood when it is remembered that Conservative representatives now hold 18 of the 22 B.C. seats in the Federal Parliament, but they hold none of the 52 seats in the provincial legislature. A provincial general election must be called within two years; and it is essential that the Conservative Party, now so strongly entrenched federally, should capitalize on its popularity to build a solid foundation of strength at the provincial level in our third largest province.

The present leader of the party in the provincial field is Deane Finlayson. He is a candidate for re-election. He has not resigned, but there is a solid core of opposition to him within the party. The unannounced intention of the convention is to try to unite the party behind some leader, either Finlayson, or whatever leader could draw more support.

A TOUGH BATTLE

For the past six years, Finlayson has fought a tough battle. He took over a party which was virtually non-existent, deserted by active members who had climbed aboard the Social Credit bandwagon and by supporters who had put their shoulders to the wheel of that somewhat phantom dream-boat.

Worse, the Conservative Party's interests in the provincial field were being deliberately subordinated to its imagined different interests in the federal field. There was an openly-discussed policy of bundling cosily with the Socialists in provincial elections as a saw-off for federal help, or at least non-opposition, in some ridings in federal elections.

Deane Finlayson rightly objected strenuously to this federal domination in the provincial field. His feelings finally boiled over at the famous gathering in Vernon in 1954, when he became the first Conservative in Canada openly to declare that George Drew should resign from the national leadership, since he had proved himself a sure loser at elections.

Many people believed that Finlayson was right, but some of these felt that he was wrong in his chosen method. Many others have never forgiven him and probably never will. Today his charge against Drew is zooming towards him like a lethal boomerang. For Finlayson has never been able to get himself or any follower elected to any provincial seat.

POSSIBLE NEW LEADER

His first rival as leadership candidate at this convention was his president, Gowan Guest, a personable, able and ambitious man but with nothing against him but his thirty-year youthfulness. Last month he unexpectedly packed his perhaps only half-willing hat out of the ring, and accepted an offer to mount a sure-fire political stepping stone as private secretary to the Prime Minister of Canada.

Since then, Dr. Desmond Kidd virtues. But politically he is a novice.

The way is open for a powerful Conservative challenge to win the next B.C. election. Could Finlayson change his losing ways? Could Kidd learn the trade of campaigning?

It is a very important decision. The delegates at the convention, spearheaded by the Young Progressive Conservatives, almost solidly behind "Cap" Kidd, may decide that their own efforts aided by the Diefenbaker tidal wave can win an election, and that Kidd the successful businessman has the makings of a successful Premier, without the trail of dissonance which follows in Finlayson's wake.

Scientists Are Studying Earth, Sun's Influence

Written For The Associated Press By DR. SCOTT E. FORBUSH

The International Geophysical Year is concentrating the greatest effort that ever has been made in the study of the earth and how it is influenced by the sun.

Around the world scientists are making observations and taking notes on the many different phenomena connected with solar activity: weather, aurora and air-glow, ionospheres which make radio transmission possible, most variations in the earth's magnetic field and all the known time-variations in the intensity of cosmic radiation.

In this simultaneous observation lies one of the great advantages of the IGY.

One example of this concentrated activity was the discovery of x-rays during auroral displays—northern lights.

These x-rays result from electrons trapped in the "frozen in" magnetic field in plasma clouds, ejected from the sun.

The electrons in these same plasma clouds are responsible for the extraordinary high counting rates registered at great altitudes by geiger counters sent up in the U.S. satellite Explorer.

Soviet cosmic ray investigators using detectors on the latest Sputnik observed similar, but smaller, increases in counting rates at lower altitudes.

These x-ray containing plasma clouds probably produce auroral and magnetic storms—if the clouds are large enough and if the magnetic field frozen in them when they leave the sun is great enough. Through scattering effects, these clouds probably cause the decreases in cosmic ray intensity that are observed during some magnetic storms.

Research has shown that more cosmic rays fall at the poles than at the magnetic equator where the earth's magnetic field deflects the weaker rays. And they are found to decrease in number when the sun is active with flares and sunspots.

What are the primary cosmic ray particles made of? Only about 10 per cent are alpha particles, or the cores of helium atoms. The remaining 90 per cent are mostly protons, with a few per cent of particles heavier than the alpha particles.

Call to remember the former days—always 10:32.

Upward Trend For Stocks Under Way

By GERRY MARTIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Industrials scored their best advance in six weeks as Canadian stock markets moved ahead in the four-day Labor Day holiday week.

Observers, many of whom felt the market was overdue for a period of consolidation, were now of the opinion that further advances will be recorded before a setback comes.

The week following Labor Day has traditionally set the pattern of the market for the next month or so.

Mining news, coupled with the usual accompanying rumors, brought a rush of trading among cheaper priced mines.

New Mylamaque was the most active issue adding 21 cents at 65 cents. New west rurs advanced 21 cents at $1.68. Rumors that it would be underwritten.

At Toronto Industrials gained almost four points the index rose to 477.13, a point comparable to last July when the market was just starting its decline.

Banks were the big industrial winners. They moved ahead strongly on the strength of a report that Canadian banks had record high savings deposits in July.

Nova Scotia, Commerce, Imperial and Royal Banks all scored more than $2 gains on the week. Dominion Stores was one of the bigger losers, down $3.25 at $55.50.

BASE METALS AHEAD

Base metals were ahead a point on index at Toronto, though changes were within $1. The section moved forward early in the week only to drop off Friday. Gains that were made were attributed to the government's decision to study the possibility of wider markets for base metals. Steep Rock was a leader, ahead 75 cents at $12.37½ while Noranda was off 75 cents at $14.50.

Golds had few changes. In western oils Calgary and Edmonton moved forward $1.12½ at $30.12½, but Pacific Petroleum was off 67½ cents at $18.50. Most other changes were less than 50 cents.

Index gains at Toronto: Industrials 3.88 to 477.13, golds .87 to 84.23; base metals 1.05 to 164.97; western oils .36 to 137.55.

The Winter Problem

The Federal Government must be taking a hard second look at the unemployment figures for July, which were summarized here a few days ago.

As The Financial Post says, there was an encouraging drop in unemployment from June to July, quite apart from seasonal factors, but "unless the economic climate changes sharply, unemployment problems may be more difficult next winter than they were last winter."

The danger next winter, The Post reports from Ottawa, is that "a substantial portion of the unemployed may not have had a job for as much as a year. In such cases, their entitlement to unemployment insurance will not be renewed. Their savings are likely to have reached a pretty low level. Total unemployment no higher, or even lower than last year, might still mean more hardship. Authorities here were pleased—and even surprised—that cases of need were so few and far between in the early part of this year. But they feel some doubt whether it can happen again if there is a second consecutive season of slackness.

Though there are certain signs to indicate that the North American recession is lifting, it is unlikely to lift fast enough to prevent a recurrence of something worse than the normal winter slackness.

The current facts are contained in a few simple statistics. In July, the last month of complete records, the Canadian labor force numbered 6,220,000 persons. This is an increase of 108,000, or less than 2 per cent, over the figures for the same month of 1957. But the unemployed workers in July, 1958, totalled 286,000 or 4.6 per cent of the labor force as against 163,000, or 2.7 per cent, in July last year.

Projecting these figures ahead into the unavoidable season of winter slackness, national, provincial and municipal governments, as well as private employers, obviously must do everything possible to create jobs and minimize hardship until next spring's expected pick-up in the continental economy.

UNITED KINGDOM OPINION

Only A Small Group Chiefly Responsible For Race Riots

By M. McINTYRE HOOD

Special London (Eng.) Correspondent
For The Daily Courier

LONDON—Few events have stirred the British public recently as much as the race riots which flared up first in Notting-ham, and have now become a daily occurrence in certain sections in London.

At present there are 190,000 colored people living in Britain. The great majority of them are well assimilated, going about their business as good citizens and minding their own affairs. The trouble-makers are few in number. But they have sprung into the headlines in the outskirts of violence.

HOODLUMS TO BLAME

It should be made clear that the race riots are the work of young hoodlums to a very large extent. Known over here as "Teddy Boys," they have been responsible for practically all of the troubles in London. Nightly they have gone on the prowl in the sections inhabited by colored people, and have started the attacks on them. Retaliation by the colored folks has taken violent form. But there have been no cases where responsible people might be regarded as responsible people involved.

The London riots, however, have become so serious that the situation has gone beyond one merely for the police forces and the Home Office. A statement issued by the Prime Minister's subject of cabinet discussion. This sets forth the government's determination to maintain law and order and enforce the law with the utmost severity, particularly as it relates to the illegal carrying of offensive weapons.

The wider aspect of the situation, that of the continued immigration of colored people from within the Commonwealth, however, cannot be settled so quickly. It is to become the subject of careful study before the government makes any decision on changing its time-honored policy of allowing free entry of immigrants from Commonwealth and colonial countries.

Meanwhile, the stiff punishments being meted out to those convicted of violence in the race riots may have the effect of curbing the young hoodlums who are at the root of the situation.

DISCUSSED BY TTC

The Trades Union Congress at its conference in Bournemouth had something to say about the color problem. Tom Dreberg, Socialist party chairman, said the Congress was a challenge to the conscience of Britain. "The real problem," he said, "is not black skins but white prejudice."

Arthur Skeffington, MP, chairman of a Socialist committee on preparation of legislation, intimated that his group is preparing a bill which would prohibit hotels, dance halls and other public places from refusing admission to colored people. This will be presented to the Scarborough conference of the party next month for approval.

MORE PAY ON FARMS

Some 600,000 farm workers in England and Wales are to receive an increase in their pay, here. It is hoped the pits, created by coal-stripping machines, will make favorable breeding grounds, and in his great personal of £7. 10s. 0d. to £7. 16s. 0d. (from $20.25 to $21.10). The National Union of Agricultural Workers had asked for an increase in the minimum to £10. 8s. (£28.25). What they have received is a 10 per cent increase in the minimum to £7. 10s. 0d. (£21.10). The union failed also in its effort to have working hours reduced from 47 to 44 hours a week, no change being made. But even at 47 hours a week, the working hours of farm workers over here are a long way short of what they are on Canadian farms.

Members of the Independent Players, who are to present the Canadian musical comedy "Bonanza," by Jim Richardson, have run into a bit of trouble over the necessity for a Canadian accent to do justice to the script. They have called in Barbara Kelly, Canadian-born television and radio star over here, to help out in that connection. She is joining them in special rehearsals to get them straight on accent on their songs.

"Bonanza" is a play about a farming family in Alberta. They suddenly discover oil on their farm, and the play tells of their subsequent exploits in the "big city" as they enjoy their new found wealth. It might very well be true to life.

Opening night for "Bonanza" will be quite a Canadian occasion in London. Bernard Braden, Barbara Kelly, Robert Beatty, Hughie Green and other Canadians high in the entertainment world in Canada will be on hand to give the occasion their blessing.

FILL VACANCIES

School Board Has No Difficulty In Hiring Sufficient Teachers

School District 23 had no difficulty in filling the vacancies caused through resignation of teachers.

This was disclosed by Fred Macklin, school board secretary today when he released the names of teachers in the various schools. In fact seven more applications were received than there were vacancies. There are a total of 202 teachers in the district, compared with 188 last year.

The increase in the number of teachers, caused through necessity of additional classrooms, has resulted in "budget difficulties," Mr. Macklin admitted.

It is presumed trustees will have to "cut corners" between now and the end of the year, because the budget for the current operation of schools, was submitted and approved by city council earlier in the year.

Following is a list of the teachers now teaching in this district: (New appointments are marked with an asterisk).

WESTBANK

As in most other schools, enrolment in both George Pringle High School and Westbank Elementary School has set a new record this year.

The student body in the high school numbers 214, an increase of 20, while in the elementary school there are 140 pupils.

Three new teachers have joined the staff of George Pringle High. C. J. Clement, who will teach senior social studies and English, was, until beginning his teaching career seven years ago, in social work in Kelowna, his home town.

Since that time he has taught at Abbotsford and Burnaby.

G. J. H. Fry, is also a former Kelowna resident, though a native of Manitoba. This is Mr. Fry's first year of teaching, and he has almost completed studies toward a Bachelor of Education degree at the University of British Columbia. He will be teaching a number of general subjects, principally grade nine students.

Mrs. E. H. Beet, a teacher of eight years experience in Alberta, registers the grade 7 and 8B class, and also teaches art.

The elementary school has, for the first time, its principal in the building. Until now, Wm. MacLaughlin has been principal of both schools, but this year Mrs. V. DeLong, formerly of the teaching staff at Nelson, will take over supervision of the four classroom school. Before her residence in Nelson, Mrs. DeLong also taught school at Vernon, Burnaby and Agassiz.

WESTBANK — Marilyn Madock, popular graduate of George Pringle High School last year, was presented with a $250 Canadian Legion bursary at the opening assembly of her school last week.

The bursary, an award for her general proficiency as well as academic ability, will pay her tuition in her first year at the University of British Columbia, where she will study home economics. Marilyn plans, upon her graduation from university, to specialize in dietetics.

Her many extra-curricular activities during her schooling included soccer, volleyball, basketball and softball, membership and capable leadership in the Brownies and Girl Guides, and, in her last year at high school, she was also president of the students' council.

Kelowna Community Chest Plans "Blitz" Drive Commencing Oct. 6

A two-week "blitz" campaign is planned by Kelowna Community Chest October 6-18.

Final plans for the drive were completed by directors yesterday. Objective this year is $25,500, an increase of $3,500 over 1957. Increased needs for the 14 participating agencies was given as the reason for the boost.

The two-week drive was decided upon at the request of many citizens, who expressed concern over the campaign dragging too long in previous years.

Many publicity gimmicks are planned to make the public more conscious of the necessity for funds to carry on needs of welfare organizations.

A gala street parade is planned October 4. Led by Lady of the Lake Miss Sharon Bunce, the parade will include all participating agencies. It is hoped to have a Miss Red Feather chosen by the school children, who will act as the symbol of this year's slogan "Give a Helping Hand."

All service clubs have been asked to co-operate in the drive.

as the Kelowna Junior Chamber of Commerce have a personal interest in this year's campaign. All Jaycees have offered to help put the drive over the top.

Cecil Langton, publicity chairman, joined out that all local advertising media are combining their efforts. "With such spirit of cooperation, we cannot fail," he remarked.

Canadian Club Plans Membership Campaign

Canadian Club of Kelowna is currently conducting a major membership drive for the 1958-59 season.

Organized 12 years ago, the local association is affiliated with the national organization which subsidizes branches in smaller communities by bearing the major burden of the cost in bringing prominent speakers to cities and towns.

Last year's membership totaled 125, and, according to the president, G. D. Imrie, a community of this size should have a membership of around 500.

The first of four prominent speakers who will be coming to Kelowna this season is M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF party. Mr. Coldwell will speak on "Canada's role in world affairs."

The dinner meeting will be held at the Aquatic on September 18.

Toastmasters To Reconvene Next Monday

Kelowna Toastmasters Club will reconvene next Monday evening at 6:30 in the Royal Anne Hotel.

Members of the executive, Walt Laurie, Annie Teasdale, Ed Boyd, met at the home of president Don MacGillivray to formulate plans for the recommencement of the weekly dinner meetings.

The international organization is one of the fastest growing clubs in the world. Sponsored by Vernon Toastmasters, the Kelowna group received its charter last year.

The self-betterment, public speaking activity, enjoyed by Kelowna Toastmasters, has seen each individual member register much progress during the past year. New members are welcome in the non-profit, non-sectarian club. Men of all ages, and in all walks of life, can benefit greatly from Toastmasters, at far less cost than a public speaking course.

Members proceed gradually from their first "ice-breaker" talk, to the 2 "be in earnest" address, and on to new heights of oratory, with possibilities of international fame.

Fires Cost $482,237 To Fight

VERNON — Although the 1958 fire season has lessened and the forest protection staff can breathe a little easier, the B.C. Forest service warns there are still two months left in the fire hazard season. Hunters, campers and fishermen are still cautioned to use every care in the forest.

There have been three times the number of forest fires this season than was experienced over the same period last year, but the cost this year—was 30 times that of 1957.

The cost of fighting 944 fires in the Kamloops Forest District, which includes the Okanagan and Cariboo, this season has been $482,237. Last year, the cost of 344 fires in the Kamloops Forest District was only $15,845.

Vernon's Water Supply Drops To Danger Level

VERNON PONDS OVER TERM NOISE

VERNON — What is noise? Vernon City Council is in a quandary as to where and how to curb noise, and still not be termed a "kill-joy" to quote one alderman.

Aldermen all had their own ideas about noise, but all agreed unrestrained hilarity on the part of a few—disturbed the many. The discussion started after Alderman Eric Palmer had drawn to the attention of council the noise from drive-in eating establishments late at night.

Another spokesman brought up the practice of honking horns by wedding parties. Still others mentioned the practice of racing by car owners up and down city streets in the early hours of the morning; also engine shunting and noise on the railway at night.

Mayor Frank Becker felt that wedding parties might be driven out of town if the city was too severe. Alderman Geraldine Coutsier felt the noise might be toned down. Aldermen Fred Harwood and H. J. Murray agreed with Alderman Palmer.

Some years ago the city enacted legislation to cover noisy wedding parties, but the habit of honking horns has been revived here.

FINANCE MINISTER FLEMING

Deadline September 15 For Converting Bonds

Local residents who have yet to convert their Victory Bonds were reminded this week that deadline day is just around the corner.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming, disclosed that more than three-quarters of the Victory's have already been exchanged for Canada Conversion Loan Bonds. He hoped no one would miss out on this "unprecedented opportunity."

He added that efforts were being redoubled in the few days left before September 15 to bring the opportunity to the attention of anyone still owning Victory Bonds here and in other cities, towns and villages across the country.

Pointing out that thousands of Canadians will have returned from vacations during these last few days, the Finance Minister said he hoped that all would make conversion a matter of immediate concern.

"I urge all those who have not yet grasped this opportunity to do so while there is still time."

CHECK BONDS
Part of the minister's remarks were aimed at bondholders who may have felt that their own holdings of Victory Bonds were too small to be worth converting. He stressed that regardless of size—$50 or $500, or $5000—it is to the owner's advantage to exchange his old bonds for new ones yielding a higher return and in addition receive a cash adjustment.

He said, too, that some Canadians may not yet realize they own Victory's and suggested that everyone holding government bonds of any description check the serial numbers. If any number begins with "17", "19", "P3", "P5", or "P7", it means that bond is a Victory.

Mr. Fleming also reminded Canadians who do not own Victory Bonds that they, too, can share in the new loan. Victory's can be bought at any bank or investment dealer, giving the buyer the right to convert.

The Finance Minister said that the conversion total achieved to date meant that the loan was already a tremendous success, and pointed out that it represented an accomplishment in government financing unmatched in scale by any other country in the western world.

He added a note of special interest to small communities throughout the nation, by emphasizing that the loan would help remove market uncertainties arising out of the imminence of large Victory Loan maturities and to that extent assist in the planning of development projects by municipalities.

RUBBISH FIRE
One truck from the Kelowna fire department was summoned at 8 o'clock last night to help control a rubbish fire in the 800 block Burne Ave. Damage was negligible.

FALONEY AND MATES EYE GREY CUP

Bernie Faloney, Hamilton Tiger Cats sparkling speed merchant, can do just about anything with a pig-skin that he takes a mind to. Above, he is seen sweeping around the Toronto Argonauts' end for one of his many ground-gaining runs, with a bit of help from blocker Harry Lampman '73.

Veteran Tennis 'Has-Been' Provides Major Meet Upset

TORONTO (CP) — A so-called "has-been" tennis player, Billy Knight of England, who topped fourth-ranked Kurt Nielsen of Denmark 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Mulloy, 45, a big favorite with the gallery, took a three-set win from 24-year-old Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 5-7, 8-6, 6-3. Canada's bright hope in the tennis world, Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., whipped internationally-ranked Ulf Schmidt of Sweden 6-1, 6-2.

The third upset was provided by unranked Billy Knight of England who toppled fourth-ranked Kurt Nielsen of Denmark 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Otherwise, the week-long tourney at the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club went pretty much according to seedings, with Australian whiz Mal Anderson stroking past Eddie Moylan 6-1, 6-3.

Anderson is first-seeded in the competition that has attracted top tennis stars from 10 countries.

SERVICE BROKEN TWICE
Bedard's match with Schmidt was the big one to the gallery of some 200. They saw the husky French-Canadian dominate a late Schmidt to the point where he lost his service only once.

Luis Ayala of Chile scored an easy 6-4, 6-1 win over Kosei Kamo of Japan.

Mulloy was to meet Budge Patty of Los Angeles in the quarter-final round today.

Patty took Mrs. Louise Brown, 1957 Canadian champion, who lost 6-1, 4-6, 6-4 to Australia's Thelma Long.

Third-seeded Maria Bueno of Victoria ousted Susan Butt of Victoria after a hard run, 6-2, 6-4.

Weather Wins 1st Round, Tuna Anglers Still Dry

WEDGEPORT, N.S. (CP) — The lull of inactivity set in today as the world's top deep-sea anglers waited out a spell of bad weather in hopes of resuming fishing Friday in the 15th international tuna tournament here.

Tournament officials Wednesday night called off fishing for today because of turbulent seas and heavy winds and rain.

The tournament ends at 6 p.m. Saturday, a day late.

The teams of the four competing nations—the United States, defending champion Mexico, the British Commonwealth and Cuba—were still in a determined mood after a numbing vigil Wednesday on a churning, splashing sea.

Their were no strikes.

James M. Hutton of Cincinnati, American team captain, revealed that he and teammate Stuart Peeler of Los Angeles "got two good glimpses" of tuna.

Peeler watched a tuna come to the surface, chase his line of teaser bait a while, then disappear. Hutton said he noted one quick swirl near the stern of his boat. A sighting was also reported from the judges launch.

Cardinals' Brass Rumored In Glue

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Alvin Dark and Birdie Tebbetts seem to be the most likely candidates to replace Fred Hutchinson who is under fire as manager of St. Louis Cardinals.

Reports that Hutchinson, along with all the Cardinals coaches, would be fired continued to mount despite denials from the Cardinal front office and the fact that Wednesday night's victory over Chicago Cubs gave the Cardinals a tie for fourth place in the National League.

Tebbetts recently quit as manager of Cincinnati Redlegs. Dark was traded by the Cardinals to the Cubs for pitcher Jim Brosnan early in the season.

ORIOLES PLAY THE HOST FOR SEMI-FINAL OPENER

The Orioles will host the Summerland Macs this Sunday at 2 p.m. in Elks' Stadium, in the first game of their best-of-three semi-finals.

The game, originally slated for Summerland, was moved to Kelowna due to commitments on the southern ball park. Second game will be played in Summerland, Sept. 21, and a third, if necessary, back in Kelowna on Sept. 28.

Kamloops Okonots, 1958 pennant winners, travel to Oliver for the first game of their series, with the remaining games played the following week in Kamloops.

Minto Cup Fray Short On Fans

TRAIL, (CP) — The question to be solved here tonight are who will win the second game of the Minto Cup series between Brampton Excelsiors and Victoria Shamrocks, and will enough fans turn up to keep the best-of-seven Canadian junior lacrosse championship series in this Kootenay centre of 15,000?

At the opening game Tuesday won by Brampton 7-6, only 700 fans were on hand. This means 1,300 will have to take in tonight's game to reach the minimum of a 2,000 total for the first two games as established by the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association.

Doug Fletcher of Victoria will telephone his report to the CALA following the game tonight. If the total is not met the CALA may make Victoria the venue for the rest of the series, starting Monday.

"The junior series was first put here as a promotion to revive lacrosse interest in this district," Fletcher said Wednesday. "The CALA is willing to take quite a loss before moving the series away."

SOME ENCOURAGEMENT
Even though Trail fans are pro-Victoria, Brampton prefers to have the series played here. One Excelsior source said: "Here we get a sprinkling of encouragement while in Victoria we would be the lowly villains."

In preparation for the game tonight, both clubs ran through full dress practices Wednesday. Rocks stressed offensive movement, with shots from just outside the free-thru line coming in for special instruction.

Summerside, P.E.I. — Gaston Roy 156, Lewis, Que., won by TKO over Roy (Tiger) Steele, 158, New Glasgow, N.S., 4.

The Kelowna Packers will have a new figure among the new faces in this year's line-up.

They will also figure in a gruelling exhibition series against some of the top clubs in western U.S. and Canada.

Rugged rearguard Andy McCallum will supply the new figure, a svelte, 180 lbs. of hard muscle, built up in a summer of working with a contracting firm on the prairies.

Several Western Hockey League clubs will provide the tough, pre-season opposition to sharpen them up to face the overseas exhibition tour, due to start three weeks after the OSHL schedule gets under way.

McCallum, who came to the team last year from the Windsor

Bull Dogs of the OHA-NOHA, had the most rugged year of his long hockey career, as far as injuries were concerned, but managed to play practically every game of the season in spite of them. This year he's harder than granite, and plans on avoiding sick call all season.

TO PLAY STAMPS
Team Manager Bob Giordano announced yesterday that the Packers are slated to travel to Calgary on Oct. 8, to play against the Stampers, and arrangements are contemplated to have the Packers travel to Red Deer also, for an exhibition tilt against their powerful intermediate club.

Coach Jack O'Reilly plans to have his boys meet the New Westminster Royals in exhibition, since both clubs will start training in the Memorial Arena at the same time, Sept. 26, and Roy McBride, manager of the newly-turned-pro Spokane Flyers, has expressed a desire to work-out against the Packers; also.

FLYERS SEEK GAME
The Flyers will be training in Penticton, and the Vancouver Canucks, who are training in Kamloops, may also play the Packers in exhibition.

The other OSHL clubs have requested exhibitions also, and coach O'Reilly will work in as many games as are feasible before the season, to hone his club to fighting trim.

The training camp opening, Sept. 26, gives coach O'Reilly three weeks to whip his club into shape for the OSHL schedule opening, and three weeks of schedule play before they leave for the overseas trip.

Fullmer, Webb Squabbles Over, Fight Tonight

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Promoter Joe Dupler won a reluctant decision Wednesday and the middleweight scrap between Gene Fullmer and Spider Webb of Chicago will be staged on schedule here tonight.

A last-minute squabble over two judges threatened for a time to cancel the fight. But Dupler said two outside officials would be brought in. He said their identity would not be disclosed until fight time.

Fullmer's manager, Marv Jensen, had wanted two Utah officials to judge the fight. Webb's manager, Hector Knowles, had held out for one Utah judge and one Idaho judge.

Fullmer, the No. 2 middleweight contender, has a 49-4 record.

Rated Third, Hanson Holding Canuck Chances

SAN FRANCISCO (CP) — When the U.S. amateur golf championships began last Monday Toronto's Eric Hanson was rated no better than third among the five Canadians entered.

Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., was considered the top Canadian hope after an impressive performance in last week's Americas Cup International competition.

Canadian amateur champion Bruce Castator of Toronto was figured to have the next best chance.

Cowan, however, lost out in the first round and Castator was eliminated Wednesday in the third round.

Hanson, runner-up to Castator in the Canadian amateur at Toronto in July, is still in the running, the only Canadian survivor.

Today he has probably his toughest match, meeting Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor, the 41-year-old Pomona, Calif., dentist who lost in last year's U.S. amateur final to Hillman Robbins.

Robbins was eliminated Wednesday, leaving two-time winner Harvie Ward the favorite.

Montreal High On Fans, Low On Stadium Schemes

By RUSS WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP) — There doesn't seem a ghost of a chance of Montreal getting into big league baseball until the city or somebody does something about a stadium.

There has also been no indication of any well-heeled individual or group talking in terms of franchise purchase.

CITY COUNCIL, THROUGH TWO ADJ. THE DODGERS LAST YEAR SOLD THE MINISTRIES IN THE LAST FOUR ROYALS' STADIUM TO A PRIVATE YEARS, HAS KICKED AROUND A PRO-GROUP, TAKING A TWO-YEAR LEASE FOR A $10,000,000 SPORTS CENTRE, CURRENTLY IT IS DORMANT.

The stadium is in the teaming barrier in organized baseball east end of the city. Car-driving with the Royals in 1940, attendants cruise about looking for spots where the 20-year-old veteran has had for some time.

General Manager Rene Lemyre says attendance is up this season with a winning team—about 20 per cent despite some weekend rainouts.

Montreal proper has a population of more than 1,000,000. Greater Montreal more than 1,500,000.

Active Rings Day Over, Seeks To Coach Youths

By GEORGE INGLIS
(Courier Sports Editor)

The "manly art" needs a swift kick in the pants, locally. There is a man in town who can do it, too. Pallid interest in the squared circle sport has never risen beyond the luke warm stage here, in spite of manly efforts by fellows like Staff Sgt. W. B. Kelly Irving, key-keeper of the local Bastille, and George Daft, a former leather pusher himself.

But a recent arrival in the Orchard City may have a word to say in aid of the sport, given a measure of support from the townspeople. John Virag looks like he might carry a little weight in any conversation, say about 250 lbs. or so. And if the subject of the discourse is boxing, you are talking about the thing that Monsieur Virag knows best.

Towering a measure over six feet from the hardwood, Virag is a 44-year-old moose of a man with a build that would have put Oliver Goldsmith's famed smith to shame. His out-thrust chin and lutting brow inspire confidence now, as they once inspired shivers in heavyweight prize fighters throughout many fight spots in Europe.

Once a well-known figure in Belgrade fight circles, where he labored for money, John held the Yugoslav championship for eight years straight; was king of the Balkan heavyweights for four years; was nudged out in Vienna for the European crown, and has received trophies from Yugoslav royalty and the dynamic Marshal Tito.

Formerly trained in Belgrade by Siki Gakovich, the fellow who won the Slav championship himself in 1947, and now captains the Yugoslav national team, John spent two years training the Austrian national boxing team at Innsbruck in the Tyrol, following his escape from Yugoslavia, and a brief sojourn in Italy.

His interest in training youngsters was whetted in Kitimat, where he followed his "sideline" as a radio and TV repairman, and trained youngsters at the YMCA until a major auto accident sidelined him. Back in good health again, he's raring to go, now that he has set up shop in Kelowna.

And there's plenty of room for him, too.

BOXING IS THE BEST SPORT IN THE WORLD for a boy to follow, this massive man with the quiet voice maintains, and he knows whereof he speaks.

The many art builds up the heart and lungs, he maintains, and judging by the dorsal cavity he sports, he has room for a set of lungs powerful enough to drive a four-masted barque at top speed through a rough sea. The sport is good for the legs, gives a youth confidence and poise, he says.

"Of course," he says, wryly, "it's a bit different if you go pro."

And John has been a pro, in every sense of the word, with a dramatic background that would fill a novelist's heart with glee, but was dime-a-dozen to strife-torn European in the past decade.

John had his own rooting section with him in the shop as we talked—Mir Skok, a fellow who used to hang around his radio shop in Zagreb, the capital of the Croatian province of Yugoslavia. Mir departed his native country hurriedly around the same time as John, in September of 1952, and met the big man in Italy. From Italy, Mir went to Germany and served two years in the U.S. army, at the same time as John trained boxers in Austria.

In June of 1956, John showed up in Kitimat, where Mir was already working, and they have been in touch ever since, the former boxer and his No. 1 fan, now fast friends.

And Mir is still a fan.

THIRSTING FOR THE RING AGAIN, even if it is in the capacity of trainer for youngsters, rather than in the role he first stepped into 17 years ago, Virag feels that there are plenty of youngsters here with sufficient interest, providing it is nurtured.

Some eight and ten ounce gloves, a punching bag or two, a ring, some Whitley exercisers, are the accessories—the necessities are the kids, he feels. When he started into boxing, it was in Oskaj, a city of 52,000, in the Oak amateur boxing club, in 1931, with not much more than that by way of accoutrements.

A kid with promise, John went to Belgrade, where he trained under Gakovich, and boxed there until he moved to Zagreb and finally fled the country, carrying along much of the radio repair equipment, his second love.

After his stop in Italy and two years in Austria, John came to Canada, seeking a spot to set up his radio and television business, his active day in the ring over. But when he travelled north to Kitimat, he found himself back in the ring again, training youngsters in the skills he once employed for gain. And, given half a chance, he wants to do the same here.

Fishing Brisk, Hunting Hopes High - Hatheume

A recent report from Hatheume Lake, 33 miles "up the hill" from Peachland, shows fishing to be good and hunting prospects excellent.

Frank Wittner of Penticton and party got their limit in a few hours on the outlying lakes, while Mr. and Mrs. Milledge of Burnaby caught seven beauties on Sunday and Monday in Hatheume Lake, from 3 1/2 to 5 1/2 lbs. The No. 4 flat-fish worked best on the other lakes, but in Hatheume No. 7 flatie, shrimp fly and small spoon were best.

Indications for grouse and deer hunting are very promising, according to Ray Redstone, joint proprietor of the lodge at Hatheume, and moose have been seen around the lakes and meadows.

New York Yankees. Two of their runs were unearned, and the third was hustled home on three walks and a hit batsman.

The crowd was attracted by fireworks, music, entertainment, prizes and a chance to see the Yankees, who had lost four of their last five games, reduce their magic number to five.

WIDEN GAP
Chicago White Sox, with nothing else to shoot for, padded their second-place edge over Boston to 2 1/2 games by beating the Red Sox 7-2. Washington knocked off Detroit 5-4 and Kansas City defeated Baltimore 4-2.

The Indians had seven hits, all singles off rookie Jack Monroe (4-1), who was relieved by Ryne Duren and Art Ditmar. Elston Howard, Tony Kubek and Hank Bauer each drove in two runs for the Yankees as Don Mossi lost his eighth in 15 decisions.

Southpaw Billy Pierce allowed eight hits and won his 16th for the White Sox, his 15th victory in the majors. He also counted his 11500th career strikeout, fanning leadoff man Don Buddin. The White Sox broke a 2-all tie with five runs in the eighth off reliever Murray Wall (7-9).

Clint Courtney drove in four shut out on one hit by Paul Foytack (12-12) for five innings. Courtney's two-run double capped a three-run sixth, and his seventh homer was good for a clinching two runs in the eighth.

Rookie Willie Tasby's first homer, a solo shot in the sixth, gave the Orioles a 2-1 lead at Kansas City. But a two-out error and Hector Lopez' 15th homer put it away for the As in the eighth.

Bid Made For Leos By Five-Man Group

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Province says an offer to purchase the B.C. Lions football club was made Wednesday by Ken Montgomery, a prominent Edmonton businessman.

The article says the offer was made in an informal meeting with Lions president Harry Spring.

Montgomery, a past president of the Canadian Rugby Union, the Western Interprovincial Football Union and the Edmonton Eskimos, made the offer on behalf of a five-man syndicate of businessmen from across Canada, the story said.

But Friend, with his St. Louis tied Cincinnati for their magic number to eight and notes setting only three hits fourth, beating the Chicago Cubs eliminating the Reds officially.

Canadian Advertisers Invest More In Newspapers Than In All Other Media

Year after year, as the reports come in, the same story is told. Advertisers continue to exhibit their confidence in the power of newspaper advertising by placing the bulk of their advertising dollars in newspapers.

During 1957, a total of more than $154,000,000 was spent for advertising by national product advertisers in all forms of media. Of this total, by far the largest share was again invested in daily newspaper advertising—$46,937,074. That's more money invested in newspaper advertising than ever before, and more than in any other medium.

Retailers, too, use newspapers for the bulk of their advertising. They invest an average of 82% of their advertising dollars in newspapers . . . more than in all other media combined.

Advertisers turn to the daily newspaper because it gives the best buy for the money. Take a hard look at your advertising budget. Is the major share going into deeper-penetrating, more resultful newspaper advertising?

If so, you're on your way to more sales per advertising dollar.

Groom's Father Officiates At Rites Solemnized Here

A lovely afternoon wedding was solemnized Saturday, August 30, at the People's Mission, when Doreen Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Wolfe of Kelowna became the bride of Edward Lavern Traub of Didsbury, Alta.

Pink and white blooms of gladioli with fern and juniper composed the setting for the impressive ceremony as the couple stood under a lattice archway trimmed with pink roses. Rev. H. A. Traub, district superintendent of the United Missionary Church, and father of the groom, performed the double-ring ceremony, and was assisted at the dedication service by Rev. Donald Taylor, president of Mountain View Bible College at Didsbury.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a full-length gown of pure silk over satin. The lace bodice featured a scalloped bateau neckline and long lily-point sleeves. Her lace edged fingertip veil rested from a chaplet of iridescent sequins. She carried a white feather pouch accented with pink rosebuds and white stephanotis.

Attending the bride were Miss Elaine Wolfe, the bride's sister, as maid of honor, Miss Joyce Wolfe, also a sister, and Miss Joyce Traub of Didsbury, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids. They were identically attired in waltz-length gowns of sky-blue sheer nylon over taffeta, with floating back panel. Each carried a pink feather pouch with touches of deeper pink roses. Pink feather headbands completed their ensembles.

Little Sharlene Wait, niece of the bride, from Mossbank, Sask., as flower girl, scattered rose petals from her pink feather basket.

Attending the groom were his three brothers, Mervin, Kenneth, and David, all of Didsbury. Guests were seated by Mr. John Wolfe of Vancouver, the bride's brother, and Mr. Ormand Sherick of Didsbury, brother-in-law of the groom.

Mrs. Sherick, the groom's sister, was at the organ console. During the ceremony Mr. Sherick sang "The Wedding Prayer," and while the bride party signed the register soft music echoed through the sanctuary.

A garden reception for 150 guests was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Gray, Surveys of pink and white gladioli complimented the tables. Rev. Donald Taylor acted as master of ceremonies and Rev. R. M. Bourke proposed the bridal toast. Telegrams of congratulation were read by Mr. Mervin Traub.

For her daughter's wedding

Mrs. Wolfe chose a powder blue silk dress with pink accessories, accented by a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother wore a light brocaded satin dress complemented by pink accessories and pink rose corsage.

For a wedding trip to Vancouver Island and the northern United States, the bride changed to a pink dressmaker suit with accessories in tone. Her corsage was a combination of pink rosebuds and stephanotis.

The young couple will make their home in Didsbury, Alta. The groom will be resuming his position on the music staff of Mountain View Bible College.

Parlor Game Popularity Grows In Great Britain

By SYLVIA HACK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Despite the popularity of television, demand for parlor games still grows apace in Britain.

Phyllis Balfour, controller of Britain's largest party-game manufacturers, says that television has actually helped increase her business.

"I think people like to listen to the radio or watch television for only part of an evening, then they like to do something with their hands, such as playing card games."

Behind a large desk piled with books and boxes and patrolled by three cats, Miss Balfour often works 15 hours a day in her North London office-cum-home.

Her company, which manufactures the card and dice game of Beetle, has supplied 4,000,000 people with it over the last 20 years. And the demand is still as great.

Miss Balfour says the growing demand for games stretches to wedding receptions and cocktail parties. Honeymoon Consequences, similar to the old party favorite, Truth or Consequences is a winner for keeping the wedding guests amused. Increased sales of distorted or blurred photographs of people and objects are popular for cocktail parties to get people talking.

Miss Balfour says adult taste in games is not changing, although children seem to want a more factual type of game nowadays. "They seem to be keen on realistic games," says Miss Balfour. "They want to increase their knowledge."

Miss Balfour bought the company from her deceased fiancé, an executor in 1949. It wasn't easy in those first years, she says. "But we've come through all right."

Running a thriving business leaves little time for leisure. Two months before Christmas business becomes twice as heavy and Miss Balfour has to work at night to keep up with orders.

It gives her a lot of pleasure when people write to tell her their party was a riot. She feels her games have helped.

WESTBANK—Bride-elect Elena Peterson was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower recently, when Mrs. Archie Currie and Mrs. R. L. The many lovely gifts were presented to Miss Peterson in a large container decorated as a log, in recognition of the groom-elect's occupation.

Miss Peterson's wedding to John Walker of Kelowna will take place Saturday, September 20, in Kelowna.

Mary Kowalchuk Weds Newton Man

In a pretty setting of colorful tapers and gladioli of the same shade, Mary Matilda Kowalchuk became the bride of James Edward LeStage at the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Friday, August 23.

Mrs. W. B. McKenzie performed the morning marriage rites for the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kowalchuk of Kelowna, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph LeStage of Newton, B.C.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and made a sweet picture in a ballerina-length lace and net bouffant over taffeta. The delicate lace of the strapless gown extended to ruffled points on the net skirt. A bolero jacket with long lily-point sleeves and tiny high collar was fashioned of the same lace. Her delicate illusion net shoulder veil was secured by a dainty coronet of pearls. Rich red roses combined with pearl stephanotis and fern to form the bridal bouquet.

As her sister's only attendant, Miss Rose Kowalchuk was gown-d in pale blue chiffon also in ballerina length, and her feather carnation headdress and rose bouquet were pink. White gloves and shoes complimented her ensemble.

Mr. Valentine Schwab was groomsmen, and Mr. Reginald Williston and Mr. Alex Kowalchuk ushered. Organ music was played by Mrs. R. S. Bach.

At the Royal Anne Hotel a reception for over 50 guests was held. The bride's mother was gown-d in pale green and white, with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bride's table had a pink and white theme, with pretty pink frosted roses enhancing the three-tiered cake. Surrounding it were four pink

Lady Engineer Finds Patterns And Blueprints Are Comparable

By SYLVIA HACK
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP) — On the face of things, there would appear to be a wide margin between dress designing and directing an engineering works.

To Mrs. Helen Dunn, a capable Scotswoman, who helps direct a worldwide metal repairs firm, dress patterns and engine blueprints have something in common. "There is a certain similarity in planning a dress from a pattern and planning an engine from a blueprint," maintains Mrs. Dunn. But she does agree the resemblance ends there.

Modern Woman Retarding Males Claims Lecturer

TORONTO (CP) — Are Canadian women making life unpleasant for the menfolk?

The question was posed Tuesday by Moorhead Wright, management consultant, in an address to the Toronto advertising and sales club.

"My experience with women in the United States is that emancipated womanhood is a major contribution to the disturbances which daily make life unpleasant for hard-working males," he said. "The same situation may exist here in Canada."

He said women are probably confused and bewildered by their comparatively new - found freedom.

"They have equality with men and sometimes I think they confuse equality with similarity. They have new freedom, new power, and they don't quite know what to do with it."

Women students at colleges all over the United States did not know why they were being educated.

"The social problems of women are probably more important today than the atomic bomb," he said.

Title of his talk: Development of Men.

Canadian Chef Apprenticed In French Cuisines

HALIFAX (CP) — Jean Lalanne, manager and chef of a downtown Halifax restaurant, has been devoted to the art of cooking since he was a boy in the French islands of St. Pierre-Miquelon off the Newfoundland coast.

Mr. Lalanne does much of the cooking himself at Chez Jean, assisted by his wife Mary and two sons, Bernard, 20, and Michael, 19.

He was trained as a child in the hotel-restaurant operated by his father at St. Pierre. When he was 12, he was sent to serve his apprenticeship in some rated French hotels, including the Maurice Hotel, the Casino Belle Vue and the Paris Hotel. He also worked at the Savoy Hotel in London.

Service with the French army in the Second World War interrupted his restaurant career, and when he returned to St. Pierre in 1946 he found that dwindling tourist trade did not make a hotel profitable. He worked for three years as a restaurant manager at Sydney, N.S., before coming here in 1957.

About a year after he opened here, Lalanne was awarded a certificate of merit by the city's tourist bureau for outstanding courtesy, service, and preparation of native foods.

THUG COMPLAINS TO POLICE DEPT.
NEWARK, N. J. (AP) - Police dispatcher Frank Hughes said a man called him and announced: "I want to make a complaint."

"What kind of a complaint?" asked Hughes.

"A complaint of a breaking and entry into a safe in Dugan's. I'd have been in the (blank blank) thing if my drill hadn't broken," then he hung up.

Police checked the office of Dugan Brothers, Incorporated. They found a hole had been smashed in the roof and the combination of the safe knocked off.

There was a single drill mark on the safe.

INDIAN BURIAL SITE MAY BECOME NATIONAL PARK

Toronto May Break Garbage Union Strike

TORONTO (CP)—Metropolitan Toronto council has taken preliminary steps to meet the threat of a strike scheduled for Monday by workers operating water and sewage services for the area's 1,500,000 residents.

The council Tuesday authorized emergency operation of essential services by nonunion labor with police protection. It also threw its support behind a majority conciliation board report offering 60 union workers a 10-cent hourly wage increase. Local 43 of the Civic Employees' Union rejected the offer in a strike vote Sunday.

C. W. Heal, business agent for the local, called the council's action "strike-breaking."

"The strike stands as is," he said.

At Tabor's hill, Scarborough, Ont., carved Indian figures recall the story of an early Indian community there. And, if present plans materialize, the site will soon become a national park. Two years ago construction crews uncovered evidence of an Indian burial ground there and dozens of skeletons, being examined by Jack Chester, right, of the Scarborough health department, were dug up. Ontario Indians then held a convention and rebuffed the bones of their ancestors and were promised the land would not be disturbed again.

HEALTH COLUMN

A Well-Balanced Lunch Keeps Junior Healthy

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

With kids back in school again, yet's give some thought to providing good, nourishing lunch for them.

Whether they eat at home, at the school cafeteria or out of a lunch box, the nighttime meal must provide at least one-third of their food requirements for the day.

LUNCHEON LIST

Every lunch should include the following:

1. A vegetable, preferably a raw one.
2. Meat, a meat-flavored dish or some other dish that is high in protein.
3. Fruit or dessert.
4. Bread and butter or fortified margarine.
5. Milk or a milk drink.

There can be as much nutritive value in a cold plate as in a hot one.

Naturally, it is easier to prepare an adequate lunch at home but you must see that a child's lunch box contains a well-rounded meal, too.

VARY SANDWICH FILLING. The main dish in a packed lunch generally is a sandwich. You can vary it by using different types of meat, fish, cheese or eggs. These can be plain or mixed in sandwich fillings. The bread used should be enriched or whole-wheat.

Even a packed lunch should contain milk, either in food or drink.

Raw vegetables are especially advisable in a packed lunch since they supply needed food values and add crispness as well. Some vegetables, of course, keep better than others, but I suggest that you wrap any of them you want to include in a lunch box in waxed paper.

Vary these raw vegetables from day to day. I suggest tomatoes, lettuce, onions, carrots, radishes, cucumbers, cress and even cauliflower and cabbage.

A thermos bottle in a packed lunch is a very good idea. This permits you to add either hot or cold soups or drinks. For a youngster's lunch box you probably will want to use milk or hot soups. Don't forget that you also can include orange juice, tomato juice and various fruit and vegetable juices. Lemonade might be a good idea once in a while.

CHOICE OF DESSERTS. Desserts round out the lunch box meal. You can use cookies, pies and cakes, of course, and also such simple desserts as fresh or dried fruits and cheese.

Maybe these few ideas will help you make your child's lunch box lunch nourishing as well as appetizing.

Water Priceless For Manitoban Village

By GEORGE BARTON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

ALTONA, Man. (CP)—Water is perhaps the most precious commodity to waterless Altona and the surrounding farmlands in southern Manitoba.

With no supply on tap, the growth of this Red River Valley community of 2,000 is being stunted. It is virtually impossible to attract industries where the cost of water is prohibitive.

At present domestic water is trucked 10 miles from Neche, N.D., at a cost of $10 for 1,000 gallons, or from Morden, Man., 25 miles west, at $15 for 1,000 gallons.

LACKS STREAMS

While the Red River Valley often has more water than is needed due to spring flooding, the towns forming what is known as the Pembina triangle are not getting enough of the right kind of water. There are no streams large enough to furnish a year-round drinkable supply and there is no chance of dams being erected because of soil conditions and the billiard-table flatness of the land.

Many plans have been advanced for a more accessible water supply but these have been either rejected, shelved or just forgotten.

Proposals have ranged from artificial lakes, pipelines, and dams to the most recent suggestion from Ernie Donin, Lac du Bonnet water diver, that water lies 340 feet below the land.

The town council is willing to invest $3,000 for experimental drilling, but nothing has been seen of the water diver since approval was given for starting the drilling. Only indication that he will return is that his mail accumulates in the town clerk's office.

FAVORS DRILLING

"What have we to lose by trying the drilling?" asks mayor Isbrand Rempel, who has received letters from persons in Alabama, Ontario, Quebec and Alberta claiming that they could find water.

"If we had a ready supply of water there is every possibility that a cannery and a creamery would be built here," said the mayor.

In 1957 it took 8,000,000 gallons at a cost of $35,000 to meet the needs of the town's largest industry, Co-Op Vegetable Oils Limited. By comparison the Co-Op Cannery at Morris, 19 miles north-east, consumed 12,000,000 gallons which cost only $2,500.

Most optimism stems from the formation of a water district embracing Gretna, seven miles south on the international border, and Altona.

This district hopes to have provincial government backing for a government and the municipal-pipeline from Neche through it would pay for any branch lines.

PIPELINE SUPPORTER

Jack Peters, president of the Red River Valley Development Association, is an enthusiastic supporter of the pipeline. Although nothing definite has been arranged, Mr. Peters said, the main pipeline from Neche is being rectified. A $205,000 system is being installed and it is hoped that it will homes.

THE DAILY COURIER 11 THUR. SEPT. 11, 1958

"City folk don't appreciate their cheap water. Why, it costs $175,000 is being spent this year with the remaining $20,000 laid aside for extensions next year. Although the sewer is welcomed, nothing would make the residents happier than to scrap the concrete cisterns used to store trucked water in their homes."

The bidding: East, pass; South, 2 NT; West, Pass; North 6 NT. Opening lead—nine of clubs. You don't find much written in books about the role good temperament plays at the bridge table. But the player who gets upset because he just had an unlucky break, or made some horrible mistake, or worse yet, because his partner did something dreadful, is certainly not doing himself any good if he allows the incident to affect his subsequent play.

Here is a hand where a cool head would do wonders in overcoming an exceptionally bad break. North jumped to six trump simply on the basis of point count. With 12 points facing a 22-24 point two notrump bid, the contract looked like a breeze. And it would have been if the diamond suit had broken normally. But when the club lead was won in dummy, and a low diamond played, East discarded a heart, and there was South suddenly confronted with the danger of going down in a hand which a moment before appeared to be a wrap-up.

The unexpected turn of events proved to be more than he could cope with. He finessed the diamond queen and West took it and returned a club. Later, sad to relate, South misguessed the two-way spade finesse and ended going down one.

Yet the contract was 100 per cent safe if declarer had given the matter calm consideration after East failed to follow to the first diamond lead. Hope of running the diamond suit obviously had to be abandoned. A different plan had to be adopted.

South should take the diamond with the ace and return a low diamond. West cannot afford to take the king, and dummy's jack wins the trick. All that is now needed is to bring home three spade tricks without permitting West to take the lead.

So a club is led to the ace and a low spade to the nine. The finesse happens to win, but win or lose there are 12 ironclad tricks. It turns out, by luck, that declarer makes 13 tricks, but this is simply a reward for good behavior.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ESTRELLITA

FOR TOMORROW

This day could be favorable to your activities in many ways if your effort are adequate. Forethought and accuracy are "musts," however. Also fact! Some persons may be under tension now, so make allowances for them.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you are currently in a splendid period for forging ahead toward worthwhile goals. In fact, the balance of 1958 seems "made to order" where your progress is concerned. Make the most of fine planetary influences and don't waste time on nonessential matters.

According to the stars, you should be justified in launching new financial ventures this month, with reasonable assurance of success. This does not mean, of course, that you should "go overboard" or risk present assets on questionable enterprises. Use your best judgement and keep in mind that conservatism can mean the difference between satisfying gain and disappointment. Personal relationships should be pleasant for most of the year ahead, and you may look forward to some interesting social and romantic developments in mid-1959; also an opportunity to travel.

A child born on this day will be exceptionally meticulous in all dealings, but may have to curb tendencies toward undue skepticism and cynicism.

JET CRAFT TO TRY FOR SPEEDBOAT RECORD

The jet age settled on speed-boating when this jet-powered boat was given a trial run at Detroit. In appearance the 36-foot hull is reminiscent of the early design of speedboats. Instead of throwing up a high rooster tail as do three-point hydroplanes, the powerful blast from the jet sends back a low, misty spray of water. Driver Lee Schoenitz reported a real bumpy ride. The driver's seat may be spring suspended to absorb some of the bounce. The boat may make a run at Don Campbell's world record of 239 miles an hour later this year.

Canadians Will Mark
CD Day September 19

OTTAWA (CP)—Spelled out in familiar terms, Civil Defence is a "plan now—survive later" program.

On Sept. 19 Canadians will mark the second "National Civil Defence Day," an installment within the nation's preparedness program to sharpen awareness of civil defence.

In about nine of 13 possible nuclear attack target areas, nearly 300,000 persons have been trained and are expected to take part in CD Day programs—rescue, mass feeding or communications demonstrations, dinner meetings, lectures and displays.

Federal CD officials here said every province will take part in the Sept. 19 program either with large-scale demonstrations or other public education activities.

The first CD Day, held last October, was judged fairly successful by provincial co-ordinators, who recommended that a similar day be held this year.

The federal CD organization supports the work of provincial municipal or regional organizations with printed CD Day materials—posters, window banners, shopping bags, place mats and stickers.

Some 2,000,000 pieces of promotional material, printed in both English and French, will be distributed free to provincial CD co-ordinators for municipalities marking CD Day.

The themes already are becoming familiar—"plan today—survive tomorrow," "Civil Defence is everybody's business," "Fall-out and refuge."

The absence of a flood of items in CD colors—blue and yellow—in target communities Sept. 19 will mean one thing—the municipality has no civil defence organization.

While Toronto, the Maritimes and Prairie provinces and west coast cities probably will be well sprinkled with blue and yellow posters Sept. 12, the capital, for instance, may be bypassed.

Ottawa and Montreal are two major possible target centres which as yet have no municipal CD plans in operation.

Although Prime Minister Diefenbaker recently told the commonsense there are plans for emergency government in event of war, this plan extends only to the federal system, not the capital's citizens.

PEACETIME ASSET
CD officials stress the dual role of civil defence in peacetime, with its volunteer army of housewives, doctors, nurses, businessmen, policemen and firemen.

More than 12,000 men and women have had special CD training since the Civil Defence College at Amherst, Ont., opened in 1954.

"Optimistic as some may be, the possibility and prospect of a nuclear war can't be dismissed by any plain-thinking person," states one press release prepared for CD Day.

"The same type of survival services are just as essential in peacetime as they would be in wartime emergencies. Help and aid for casualties from fire, flood, tornado, explosion or earthquake is an ever present need."

Brazilian Males Reject Beef;
Claim Virility Is Affected

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuters)—Many men in Brazil are refusing to eat beef because they fear it will affect their virility.

In some cities and country areas, the consumption of beef has dropped by between 40 per cent and 80 per cent since rumors spread that cattle were being treated with female hormones to fatten them.

Official denial so far have not persuaded the men to return to their "bife," normally a favorite meat dish among Brazilians.

It seems that the panic was started by a disgruntled and unsuccessful butcher at Gabriel Da Paiba, a small town in Espirito Santo State. Put out of business by a price-cutting competitor, he alleged that the meat business was no good because "they are using a vaccine to fatten the cattle, and this contaminates the meat and causes disturbances in the people who eat beef."

The story grew as it passed from mouth to mouth, from provincial newspaper to city newspaper, until, by the time it made headlines in Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, the "contaminated beef" was said to cause not only impotence but even to produce a change of sex in men.

Within a few days, meat sales in Rio and Sao Paulo had dropped by 40 per cent and in the smaller cities by more than that. Some butchers' shops, in desperation, put up signboards reading: "We sell only cow and goat. No beef."

Eddie Le Baron
Maybe A Runt,
Tall On Talent

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Eight years ago they called the half-point from College of the Pacific a runt who could never make the grade in pro football.

After a while the skeptics admitted they were a bit hasty. That maybe Edward Wayne Le Baron Jr. did have possibilities.

Some still have doubts—mostly those who have never seen heady Eddie perform magic with a football. If they need convincing, let them listen to coach Joe Kuharich of the Washington Redskins.

"Finest quarterback in the league," says Kuharich. Le Baron at 165 pounds is the smallest article in the pro game, but no Redskins weighs more in figuring Washington's chances for an eastern division title in the upcoming national football finals.

Kuharich sheds his normal teasing in touting the former Calgary Stampeder for "execution, play calling, ball-handling, passing and ability to size up a situation."

Kuharich also wants it remembered that Le Baron is an elusive devil afoot, running the ball out of trouble or on quarterback keeps.

Le Baron ranked second among NFL passers last season on the basis of average yards gained.

CAFE MAN DIES

Jim Quong, well-known proprietor of City Park Cafe and resident of Kelowna for 30 years, died at 10:15 this morning after a week's illness. Prominent member of dwindling Chinese community here, Mr. Quong was 67 years old, coming here as a teen-aged youth from China. Funeral arrangements are incomplete as yet.

purchases by wholesalers, of Washington apples since the Okanagan product "hit town."

BCTF officials report stiff competition from U.S. apples on the Prairies, particularly in Manitoba. But the B.C. apples are doing better than hold their own in spite of the competition.

Mac picking is generally heavy all through the valley, with some Jonathans and Delicious being picked in small quantities at the southern end of the Okanagan.

In a report on other fruits, Carl Stevenson, BCTF sales manager, said the Bartlett pear crop is expected to be wound up by the first of next week. There is quite a large stock of Flemish Beauty pears on hand but the demand is expected to pick up once all the Bartletts are gone.

Picking of Anjou is now under way, but none has been offered for sale as yet.

PRUNES TAPER OFF
Prune plums still are being shipped out, but they are tapering off quickly, according to Mr. Stevenson. He said the crop turned out to be light this year, though it actually ran higher than the last crop estimate of 385,000 packages.

Peaches are "practically finished," according to Mr. Stevenson. Elbertas and Hales are being cleaned up now and Tree Fruits expects that nearly all will be shipped out by this coming weekend.

China's Great Leap Forward
Produces Solid Achievement

By JACK GEE

PEIPING (Reuters)—China's "great leap forward," slogan of the economic program for 1958, is producing solid and visible achievements as well as spectacular statistics.

This year, China has launched its first 8,700-ton cargo boat, produced prototypes of five automobiles and 27 trucks and begun flying its own small airliner, the AN-2, on internal routes.

China's big orders for foreign raw materials and equipment, which contrast with the parsimony of its expenditure on imports during the first five-year plan, are indications of a rapidly expanding economy.

TRADE INCREASED

Britain's trade with China increased by more than half during the first six months of 1958 as a result of the growing demand here for machine tools and steel products.

And, although Peiping trade officials say that Chinese industry never has been handicapped by the West's strategic embargo, the removal of many restrictions in August undoubtedly will be reflected in fresh orders, notably for bigger machine tools and power stations.

At present, many factories are forced to operate far below capacity because of the shortage of steel, aggravated by the breaking off of trade relations with Japan, formerly China's cheapest supplier. Nevertheless, China's biggest vehicle factory, Changchun in Manchuria, is scheduled to produce 18,000 trucks and 100 automobiles this year.

The slogan "catch up with Britain in 15 years" has been rewritten with the target period for overtaking British steel output reduced to 10 years. The government now reports that already in 1958 China will outstrip British industry in the quantity or quality of the output of 38 products, including cotton yarn, watches, chemicals and dyestuffs.

The state statistical bureau reports that more than 3,000,000 "small industrial units" have been built this year, including ball-bearing factories set up by peasants on co-operative farms and blast furnaces built and operated by students on university campuses.

The strains and stresses of industrialization at break-neck speed inevitably involve considerable sacrifices by the workers. Capital investment during the first half of this year was reported officially to have increased by more than 88 per cent. But wage levels have not changed.

In the agricultural field, Chinese planners, claiming that the country's 550,000,000 peasants have defeated floods and drought, are looking forward to a bumper food harvest, which they predict will be 20 per cent bigger than last year's.

Travellers arriving in Peiping confirm that wheat, rice and other crops came up well throughout the country, except in Manchuria, where a severe summer drought stunted the growth of corn.

However, foreign experts here think that floods must have taken a toll of crops in Central China. At the same time, they wonder about the state of North China's winter wheat crop, which was planted during last fall's drought and harvested in June after seven rainless months. They recall that in the past estimates published in mid-summer sometimes have proved over-optimistic.

am aware of the fact that the elements which go into making final decisions are so delicate, often-times not subject to public appraisal, that there lies a responsibility upon the president and his principal advisers which cannot be shared with the general public.

On support from allies, Dulles said: "I do not believe that we should seek to require that all of our allies should agree with everything we do in an area of the world where we have the primary responsibility. I believe that as they increasingly understand the situation they will do so."

WHERE BLUFF ENDS

It is difficult to conceive of such a statement being made by an American statesman, say, 20 years ago. Dulles' words are the measure of the responsibility placed upon him.

His aims—and where his bluff ends—are indicated in this statement: "You can not isolate and say that the only problem involved here is Quemoy and Matsu. What is involved, and what is under threat, is the entire position of the U.S. and that of the free-world allies in the Western Pacific."

Food value of vegetables can be reduced by soaking or cooking them too long in too much water.

FAN PLANS LONG SERIES MARCH

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Confident that New York Yankees have the American League pennant all wrapped up, a 72-year-old nearby Leedsdale man is making plans to walk the 350 miles to New York to see the World Series.

But walking long distances isn't new to A. F. Bergman. "I've walked to about a dozen World Series," he said. "I've walked from my home to New York 30 times and to Chicago 25 times."

For the last 62 years on his birthday anniversaries, Bergman has walked one mile for each year of his age.

His birthday stroll this year was on the boardwalk at Atlantic City.

"I walked 72 miles in 15 hours and 57 minutes last May over there," he recalled. He estimates he has walked more than 300,000 miles in his life.

Reds Continue
Heavy Barrage
Against Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Bad weather kept Chinese Nationalist supply ships from trying to reach Quemoy today as Communist bombardment of the offshore island continued.

It was the second straight day that inclement weather in the Formosa Strait halted movement of ammunition and other supplies under U.S. naval escort to the beleaguered outpost.

In Taipei, sharp resentment was stirred by the proposal of Republican Senator John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky that the United States persuade the Nationalists to withdraw from the Quemoy and Matsu islands.

Iron Man Role
In Line For QB

TORONTO (CP)—It'll be a 60-minute football game for Toronto quarterback Gerry Doucette in Montreal Saturday.

Coach Hampton Pool of the Argonauts Tuesday announced Doucette will play the entire game when Toronto meets Alouettes for the second time this season in the Big Four football league.

Pool said Dick Shatto won't be sent in for Doucette unless Doucette is injured or something extraordinary happens.

Makes Big Gain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Racial integration made two additional breakthroughs in the southern states Tuesday.

One bastion of segregation fell when two Negro students registered at a Louisiana State University branch in New Orleans.

The other breakthrough came when a federal judge ordered Negroes admitted to white schools at Charlottesville, Va.
